Note: This document provides detail on the structure and questions of the Registration of Interest (ROI) form available through our Portal. All ROIs must be submitted via the Portal to be considered. You must submit your ROI via the Portal before midday on Tuesday 10 March 2026.

Before you complete the registration of interest

Before you start the Registration of Interest (ROI) for Round Two of the New Investment pathway we strongly recommend you:

- Read the Guidance for Organisations. This will provide full details on the fund and how to apply.
- Complete the self-selection exercise noted below.

Should I apply for the Social Investment Fund?

Do you meet the preconditions?

Each organisation will be required to meet all the preconditions below for their proposal to be evaluated. Pre-condition evidence will not be required during the ROI stage. However, if your organisation is shortlisted, evidence will be collected.

Application Preconditions
1.	Legal status: Is your organisation registered as a legal entity in New Zealand or abroad? (Evidence could include an NZBN or other equivalent legal documentation). If you are applying as an organisation collective, all organisations in the collective must meet this pre-condition.
2.	Organisational scale: Does your organisation(s) have an annual turnover of $500,000 or more? (Evidence could include an IR3 tax return, a letter from your accountant, Charities register document or equivalent). If you are applying as an organisation collective, only the lead organisation in the collective must meet this pre-condition.
3.	Community Relationships (community assessment): Have you previously worked with a priority cohort or community? Do you have established relationships with community stakeholders? (Evidence would be collected via the community consultation phase and via proposal).
4.	Data sharing: Does your organisation agree to share the following data with Statistic New Zealand's Integrated Data Infrastructure (IDI) for the service?: • Personal identifier(s): Sufficient information for Statistics New Zealand to identify an individual, such as an NHI number; or a name, gender and date of birth. This data is used only by Statistics New Zealand for linking in the IDI and is not shared with the fund. • Start date: The date the individual began working with your organisation • Exit date: The date the individual ceased working with your organisation

For collective applications, one organisation can provide their details at this point in the process. If a collective application is successful, we will collect the details of other organisations.

Have you considered alignment to Round Two priority cohorts?
In June 2025 the Social Investment Fund Ministerial Group (SIFMG) confirmed the below priority cohorts for New Investment Round Two. The cohorts have been prioritised based on government priorities and evidence indicating the heightened likelihood of adverse outcomes in health, education, safety, and overall wellbeing.

There are four priority cohorts:
1. Children whose parent(s) are currently or have recently been in prison.
2. Children of parent(s) who experienced the care system.
3. Children who are stood down or suspended from school when they were 12 or younger.
4. Mothers who experience harm from substance use, and their children from pregnancy up to age 5

Proposals may aim to support one or more priority cohorts.

Have you reviewed the New Investment assessment framework?
The application process within the portal is aligned to the New Investment self-assessment framework It may be helpful for you to review this framework well ahead of the ROI close date and prior to completing your application through the online portal.

There are areas which may require pre-work and/or collaboration with others to formulate responses required in the application for your proposed initiative, such as your theory of change.

Pathway One: New Investment | Social Investment Agency

Please note: Some responses to questions in this form may be published by the SIA if your proposal is shortlisted. These questions have been highlighted on subsequent pages. The responses to those questions will be published during the community feedback step of the fund process.

To find out more about priority outcomes, see the Guidance for Organisations.

Please note the information you provide in this section will not be published on our website.

Which priority outcome(s) will your organisation's proposed initiative deliver against?

○	Improved health
○	Greater safety
○	Ensuring stable and secure housing
○	Improving knowledge and skills
○	Growing income and wealth
○	Supporting people into work
	Other

Please describe any other outcomes your proposed initiative seeks to achieve

The Social Investment Agency has defined five maturity levels for "outcomes".

- Pre-Developing – Your organisation's proposal expresses an intention to improve outcomes but does not yet clearly specify what change is expected, for whom, or how success would be recognised. Outcomes are broad, aspirational, or framed as activities rather than measurable change.
- Developing – Your organisation's proposal identifies Intended outcomes aligned to the Funds's priorities and describes the type of change expected for participants. However, outcomes are still high-level, loosely defined, or not yet clearly measurable, and links between activities and outcomes are still emerging.
- Meets – Your organisation's proposal clearly defines specific, measurable outcomes that describe the change expected for participants. Outcomes are aligned with one or more Social Investment Fund priority outcomes and are specified in a way that enables assessment of progress or change over the life of the initiative, at a level appropriate to its scale and context.

- Leading – Your organisation's proposal defines outcomes with a high degree of clarity and confidence. Outcomes are strongly aligned with the theory of change and priority outcomes and are supported by reliable baseline or proxy information that enables meaningful assessment of change, including analysis across relevant groups where appropriate.
- Pioneering – Your organisation's proposal defines or measures outcomes in ways that are useful beyond the individual initiative. This may include outcome definitions or indicators that are designed or adapted so they can be understood, compared, or reused by others working in similar contexts, with potential to inform replication, scaling, or future commissioning decisions.

Cohorts

This about how your organisation will reach a social investment priority cohort.

There are four priority cohorts:
1. Children whose parent(s) are currently or have recently been in prison.
2. Children of parent(s) who experienced the care system.
3. Children who are stood down or suspended from school when they were 12 or younger.
4. Mothers who experience harm from substance use, and their children from pregnancy up to age 5.

We are looking for initiatives that will reach more than 250 participants who are well aligned with the priority cohorts, over the course of the programme.

To find out more about priority cohorts, see the Guidance for Organisations.

Please note only the cohort(s) you select will be published on our website if your proposal is shortlisted.

Which priority cohorts will this initiative support?

○	children whose parent(s) are currently or have recently been in prison,
○	children of parent(s) who experienced the care system, and
○	children that were stood down or suspended from school when they were 12 or younger, and
○	Mothers who experience harm from substance use, and their children from pregnancy up to age 5.

Does your organisation currently work with cohorts you selected above?

○	Yes
○	No

How many participants from the priority cohort/s will your proposal support, per annum?

Free text box (250 characters)

Please provide further detail on how these cohorts will be identified in practice and the referral pathways your organisation will use

Free text box (1250 characters)

The Social Investment Agency has defined five maturity levels for "cohorts".

- Pre-Developing – Your organisations proposal identifies an intended population or need but does not yet clearly define a priority cohort or explain how participants will be identified, reached, or enrolled. Access pathways are unclear, aspirational, or reliant on assumptions rather than established relationships or processes.
- Developing – Your organisation's proposal defines a priority cohort and outlines a plausible approach to identifying and reaching participants. Referral or access pathways are described but are still early, untested, or not yet operating at scale. Whie the approach is credible in principle, there is limited evidence that it will work reliably or reach the intended number of participants over time.
- Meets – Your organisation's proposal clearly defines the priority cohort(s) the initiative will support and explains how participants will be identified, referred, or enrolled. Referral or access pathways are appropriate to the proposed model and demonstrate a realistic, evidence-informed approach to reaching at least 250 participants aligned with the Fund(s) priority cohorts over the life of the programme. Your organisation's proposal shows awareness of equity and access considerations and outlines basic steps to address them.
- Leading – Your organisation's proposal demonstrates a high level of clarity and reliability in defining, reaching, and enrolling the priority cohort(s). Referral or access pathways are established or agreed with partners, with evidence that they will reach the required scale. The initiative uses data to monitor access and enrolment and to understand who is being reached, supporting accountability and attention to equity.
- Pioneering – Your organisation's proposal demonstrates cohort and referral pathway approaches that go beyond established practice. Access to service is intentionally designed, coordinated, or governed with partners (such as iwi, communities, or other organisations) to improve equity, transparency, or understanding of who is reached and who is not. These approaches show potential to inform or be adapted by others working with similar cohorts.

Theory of Change

This section is about how your organisation's initiative works and theory of change. A theory of change is a structured, evidence-informed explanation of how and why an initiative is expected to lead to better outcomes for a specific cohort.

To find out more about theory of change, see the Guidance for Organisations.

Please note the information you provide in this section will not be published on our website.

The Social Investment Agency has defined five maturity levels for "theory of change".

- Pre-Developing – Your organisation's proposal describes activities or services but does not yet clearly explain how these are expected to lead to improved outcomes. Assumptions about change are implicit or taken for granted.*
- Developing – Your organisation's proposal outlines a basic Theory of Change that explains how activities are expected to contribute to outcomes. Key assumptions are identifiable, but the pathway is still high-level or not yet well tested.*
- Meets – Your organisation's proposal presents a clear and logical Theory of Change that explains how the proposed activities are expected to lead to intended outcomes. The casual pathway is coherent and plausible, supported by evidence, experience, or community insight, and provides a credible foundation for programme design and evaluation.*
- Leading – Your organisation's proposal demonstrates a well-developed Theory of Change that is grounded in evidence or practice and used to guide how the initiative is designed and delivered. Assumptions about how change occurs are explicit and reflected on over time, supporting learning, adaptation, and evaluability within the initiative.*
- Pioneering – Your organisation's proposal demonstrates a Theory of Change that is intentionally co-developed or jointly owned with communities, Iwi, or partners. The change logic integrates diverse knowledge and perspectives and is designed to deepen shared understanding of how change happens in complex contexts, beyond a single organisation or initiative.*

Continuous Learning

This section is about your organisation's continuous learning, learning practices and policies.

To find out more about continuous learning, see the Guidance for Organisations.

Please note the information you provide in this section will not be published on our website.

Please describe how your organisation would record it's learning and use that to grow and improve reach

Free text box (1250 characters)

The Social Investment Agency has defined five maturity levels for "Continuous learning"

- Pre-Developing – Your organisation's proposal expresses openness to learning but does not yet describe how learning would be generated, reflected on, or used to improve practice.
- Developing – Your organisation's proposal describes basic learning processes (e.g. reflection, feedback, monitoring) and shows intent to use leaning to improve delivery, though systems are still informal or early stages.
- Meets – Your organisation's proposal clearly explains how data, feedback, and learning will be used to support ongoing improvement in delivery and participant outcomes. Learning processes are intentional and structured, with regular opportunities to reflect on performance and adapt practice over time. Learning is part of normal delivery activity within the initiative.
- Leading – Your organisation's proposal demonstrates that continuous learning and improvement are embedded in organisational practice. Data and feedback are routinely analysed and used to guide adaptive changes to delivery, workforce practice, or participant engagement. Leadership supports learning, and there is evidence that learning leads to sustained improvements over time.
- Pioneering – Your organisation's proposal demonstrates learning approaches that go beyond organisational improvement. Learning is intentionally designed or governed with partners (such as iwi, communities, or other organisations) to support shared reflection, sense-making, or adaption in complex contexts. These approaches show potential to strengthen collective understanding beyond a single initiative.

Sector-wide Learning

This section is about your organisation's approach to design, funding and delivery of social services and how it will create a learning opportunity for the wider social sector.

To find out more about sector wide learning, see the Guidance for Organisations.

Please note the information you provide in this section will not be published on our website.

The Social Investment Agency has defined five maturity levels for "sector wide learning".

- __Pre-Developing__ – Your organisation's proposal focuses primarily on delivery within your organisation, with limited consideration of how learning might be shared or contribute beyond the initiative.
- __Developing__ – Your organisation's proposal recognises the value of sharing insights and describes early ideas for contributing learning to the wider sector, though mechanisms are informal or not yet well developed.
- __Meets__ – Your organisation's proposal includes a clear and intentional approach to generating learning that could be relevant beyond the initiative. It builds on existing evidence or practice and identifies what will be tested, learned, or documented, with a plan to share findings with peers or the sector.
- __Leading__ – Your organisation's proposal positions learning as a deliberate contribution to the wider sector. It introduces new or improved approaches and includes clear plans for capturing, validating, and sharing learning in ways that support replication, adaptation, or broader use.
- __Pioneering__ – Your organisation's proposal is explicitly designed to support system-level learning. Learning is co-designed or governed with partners (such as iwi, communities, funders, or sector organisations), integrates multiple ways of knowing, and is intended to influence how learning is produced, shared, or used across the system.

- Pre-Developing – Your organisation's proposal references community or whānau but does not clearly describe how communities are involved in shaping, delivering, or refining the initiative.
- Developing – Your organisation's proposal describes meaningful engagement with communities or lived-experience groups and shows how community insight informs delivery, though influence may still be limited or informal.
- Meets – Your organisation's proposal demonstrates a sound understanding of the community and includes existing relationships or credible plans to establish them. Engagement is intentional and appropriate to the initiative, with clear mechanisms for community input that support effective delivery.
- Leading – Your organisation's proposal reflects strong, trusted relationships with the community. Community voice meaningfully informs how services are designed, delivered, and adapted, and engagement is culturally responsive and embedded in practice.
- Pioneering – Your organisation's proposal demonstrates community ownership or shared governance, with communities actively involved in leadership, decision-making, and learning. The initiative contributes to strengthening community capability or systems beyond the immediate programme.
