Privacy Statement

What Data We Collect and Share

To help improve services and learn what works best, data about the services you receive will be shared with Stats NZ and integrated into the Integrated Data Infrastructure (IDI). This data will be de-identified (meaning your personal information will be removed) and linked with other datasets for research purposes. You will not be identifiable in any research or evaluation reports.

The data we provide to the IDI includes:

- Unique identifiers (e.g., NSN, NHI, SWN) for matching purposes only
- Personal information (e.g., name, date of birth, gender) for matching purposes only (only if no unique identifier is available)
- Service Name (the name of the service being delivered)
- Service start date (when you began receiving services)
- Service end date (when you stopped receiving services)

How We Protect Your Data

All data shared with the IDI is strictly protected. The IDI uses strict rules and security measures to keep your information safe and confidential. The data is used only in a way that aggregates information at a group level—meaning your personal information is never monitored or tracked individually.

For more information on how the IDI protects your data, visit Integrated Data Infrastructure | Stats NZ and Your information in the IDI | Stats NZ.

Your Rights

You have the right to request a copy of the information about you that we have provided to the IDI. If you believe that any of the data is incorrect, you can ask for it to be corrected. To request access to your data or make corrections, please [contact us here] (insert contact details or process for making requests).
